

Cloud City Farm Internship

Learn how to grow vegetables this summer!

Start: June 5, 2017

Ends: October 5, 2017

Hours: 10 hours/week

Monthly Stipend: $300

Job Description:

Cloud City Conservation Center is building and operating a community farm in Leadville that will grow vegetables for sale at a farm stand and local farmer's market. Located at 10,000 ft. above sea level in the heart of the Colorado Rockies, the Cloud City Farm will be the first of its kind.

Position Details

- Reports to Cloud City Farmer
- Location: Leadville, CO. Two locations: CMC campus and farm plot near Lake County Library
- 10 hours per week to be scheduled with the Farmer, not to be distributed over more than two days per week.

What will Interns Do? Cloud City Farm will allow students to gain experience as farmers, volunteer managers, and entrepreneurs through a sustainable food operation that directly benefits our community. Students will help coordinate all garden and food-related projects including production, produce sales, marketing, and outreach. Cloud City Farm Interns will contribute to food production activities including sowing seeds, irrigating, weeding, composting, harvesting, processing, and marketing.

What will Interns Learn? Farm interns will gain a unique opportunity to get hands-on experience in food policy, production, and education. Each week of work will begin with 2 hours of training by our Farmer in a different area of local food production. Our Farmer is Lani Meyer, she holds a master's degree in Horticulture with an emphasis in Urban Farming, and has many years' experience working in commercial farming operations.

Application Process: Student selections for the internships will take place in early May and may include an interview. Once selected, Cloud City interns will be asked to begin June 5th. Interested students must complete an application. For more info, please contact C4's Executive Director, Kendra Kurihara at 719-293-5334 or Kendra@cloudcityconservation.org
